Vous êtes friands de nouveautés musicales? On a une moutadine de bonne nouvelle pour vous!

Voici Bella Forté, une chanteuse soul montréalaise qui s'apprête à lancer Hear Me Out, son premier maxi.

Non contente de s'inspirer de grandes interprètes de la trempe d'Aretha Franklin et Sharon Jones, l'artiste fait dans la neo-soul moderne, faisant autant écho à Amy Winehouse qu'à Estelle (sauf qu'elle a fait son duo avec le rappeur local Karma Atochyah et non avec Kanye West).

Bien que méconnue du grand public, Bella Forté est une chanteuse aguerrie qui a notamment gagné sa croûte en chantant dans des hôtels cinq étoiles en Asie et s'est distinguée sur scène ici, entre autres au fameux Upstairs Jazz Bar & Grill de Montréal.

Justement, pour celles et ceux qui voudraient la voir sur les planches, Forté et ses musiciens seront au Petit Campus ce jeudi 31 mai à 19 h.

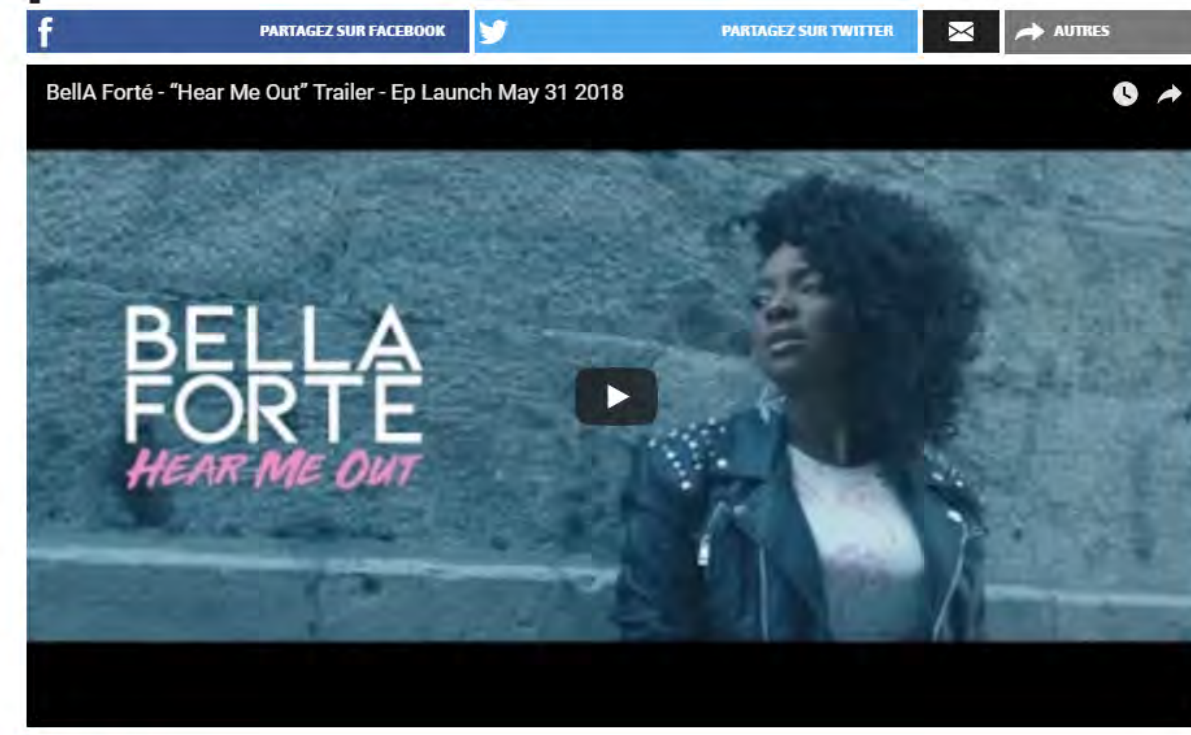

Bonne écoute!

'Go,' Bella Forté

Bella Forté released her debut studio EP, Hear me Out, on Monday, June 11, and these four songs signal the arrival of a new soul powerhouse. The Montreal-based singer kicks things off with the blistering and buoyant “Go,” an empowered anthem/kiss-off to a lover who’s been jerking the narrator along for way too long. “I did my best to understand you/ gave you too much to be under you,” Forté sings as the band takes a brief step back from the wild flourishes of brass and drums, making space in the arrangement to emphasize the importance of this declaration. Some break-ups are such a long time coming that they actually feel like a victory, and “Go “ is one of the best ways to say goodbye.

CALL HER Bella

Egbert GAYE She says she is drawing from a lifelong passion for the stage, which was stoked when she was about five years old as she sat with her mom to watch the Grammy Awards and saw Whitney Houston take the room. That's because Bella, as she prefers to be called, is too busy thriving audiences here, and in far-off venues around the world, with a package that ships with soul, funk, jazz and the spicy Creole rhythms of Kompa from her beloved Haiti. Those who have seen her on stage at Metropolis, House of Jazz and Uptown Bar Jazz & Grill, or at outdoor festivals in LaSalle or Laval or St. Constant, know she's the real deal. With a voice as sultry and engaging as Aretha or the modern-day Jill Scott and a style reminiscent of none other than Tina Turner, the Montreal-born artist who has also graced stages in far-off places like Hong Kong and Singapore is constantly seeking ways to up her game. That's why she decided that the time is right, now, to release her first EP with four songs, all originals, which she describes as "soul searching" and drawn from a reservoir of emotions stored up from life experiences. "After so many years of covering other people's... just being an interpreter of the lyrics of others, I decided the time is right for me to put my words on the scene and be seen for what I am, a singer-songwriter." And the hope is that it will open new doors for her singing career. "My goal is to produce something that will help me present my music to an agent or into the hands of one of the big music labels and get me the support I'll need to make it grow into an album. "It's what you have to do as an independent artist and entrepreneur." After five years on the move and building her career to what it is today, Bella is at a good place in her life and feels primed to take on this project.

she has accumulated along the way in her musical journey, with tracks that also include 'Go', 'Where Did The Love Go' and 'Sunshine'. "I think everyone will be able to relate to the backbone of these four songs: life, love, deception, pain and eventually survival." And at the center of it all is the emotional overload of relationships. This is an EP for the purist, these who love music the way it was delivered on those memorable albums of Stevie Wonder and Aretha Franklin. "It was all done live in the sense that all the musicians were present, playing through the entire songs." To get the best out of this project I was fortunate to work with Joel Campbell, the musical arranger, connected to

Son nom? Bella Forté

Elle est une interprète et auteur-compositrice qui sort son album le 31 mai 2018. L'écouter c'est l'adopter! Elle chante de tout, tout, tout! Elle adore le Blues, le Jazz, la musique haïtienne... les musiques du monde quoi!

Je me suis assise avec elle, en entrevue, pour une trentaine de minutes de pur plaisir! Vous ne la connaissez pas! Vous pourrez la découvrir en écoutant l'entrevue et 3 morceaux qu'elle chante à merveille.
